ITCHING ECZEMA

Suffered Tremendous Itching Over Whole Body-Scratched Bled + Worse at Night, With Soreness and Excruciating Pains - A Western Lady's

WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Last year at this time I suffered with a tremendous itching on my back, which grew worse and worse, until it spread over the whole body, and only my face and hands were froe. For four months or so I suffered the torments of the dammed, and I had to scratch, scratch, scratch, scratch, until I bled. At night when I went to bed things got worse, and I had at times to get up and scratch my body all over, until I was as sore as could be, and until I suffered exeruciating pains. I did not know what it was, and resorted to a number of blood purifiers, using at times also Cuticura Soap. They told me then that I was suffering from eczema. Then I made up my mind that I would also uso Cuticura I used them according to instructions, and very soon indeed I was greatly relieved. I continued until well, and now I am ready to recommend the Cuticura Remedies to any one who suffers as did your obedient servant. Mrs. Mary Metzger, Sweetwater, Okia., June 28, 1905."

TORTURING, DISFIGURING Humors, Eczemas, and Itchings Cured by Cuticura

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of scalp, as in scalled head—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt.

DROWNED IN HIS BEST.

Fresh Water Preserved Body in Good State.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WEST POINT, VA., Algust 24.—An unknown colored man's body was found Wednesday floating a little below Beach Park. He is supposed to have fallen from some boat.

The man wore good clothes and shoes and a good watch—in other words, he was "dressed up" for some special occasion. At first those finding him thought the watch was at work. Afterwards it was found the watch had stopped at twenty-eight minutes past eleven.

An inquest was held over the body, and it was turned over to Undertaker Chalkley for interment in the West Point Cemetery, instead of at "high-water mark" nearest to the place where the body was found, according to custom and law.

It was also reiterated from the Franklin that the young man is in double irons, and he is fed on bread and water, except every third day, when he is given full ship's rations.

. The Rich Young Ruler.

The Rich Young Ruler.

A special, though sad, interest attaches to all the incidents of Jesus' hast journey to Jerusalem. He had healed the lepers and blessed the children and now, almost under shallow of His cross, in point of time only four weeks romoved, comes this subtlest of interviews with the rich young president of some synagoue.

The man was like one thoroughly incosed in armor. Every piece was burnished with diligence and disposed for effect. He stood panoplied cap-u-pie. But beneath all this spiendid, impregnable, moving fortress jurked a disquiet spirit, that felt itself not quite secure in spite of all, else he would never have come to the Nagarene rabbi.

Jesus just condescends to enter the lists, and tilt and foll with this knight.

needle of a soil wavered between heaven and hell. Alasi alasi when in a moment it came to rest, it pointed steadily toward perditton. What a loss: The dread unrest, extreme enough to bring this man of high rank to the despised Gallen; and to bring him, not like Micodemus, but in the most public place and manner. That unrest might have been instantly removed by the absolute assurance of a harby immortality. Riches held by frailest tenure—wealth, the sport of the natural elements and standing temptation to human rapacity, were then and there deliberately preferred to treasure laid up where moth and rust do not corrupt, and where theves do not break through and steal.

No wonder the Master-teacher availed Himsolf of such a didactic incident. He quotes the proverbial description of the impossible to indicate the extreme difficulty of a happy outcome in this and similar instances. As easily could their largest domestic animal pass through the smallest orifice with which they were familiar, as a rich man onter Heavel, He will not enter at all except by means of that regenerating graco which enables him to break the enchanting spell of mammon and love God with a supreme affection.

The Teacher's Lantern.

The Teacher's Lantern. Alasi the genus of the rich young ruler is not yet extinct. The world contains as many, if hot more moralists then ever. The refrain still greets our ears, "All these have I kept." They are on the best of terms with the Ten Commandments.

Under bold front, however, disquiet vents itself in the query, "What look I yet" There is conscious deficiency If an lots is wanting, all is lost; for how shall an imperfect morally sfreet a perfect savation? Chuse must equal creek.

Morality seeks to fortify itself with added works. "Some bold stroke of right ecuseness, some grand supercongation." But what does these amount to when the Morality falls in the crucial test of a complete surrender to God. All the legal doings of a lifetime did not empower the young man to lift his eyes to Heaven and cry, "Even so, Father; for thus it seemoth good in Thy sight."

Where morality fails, grace success.
The thing impossible to man (in a state of nature) is possible to man when too works in him to will and to do of his good pleasure. Size of a bank account, amount of real estate, bonds, and stocks, is not the question. But attitude of the heart—that is the test. If a voice should sound from Heaven, "Sell all and give all," are these material things held so lightly that compliance with that hypothetical voice would be possible?

Pity the sorry plight of the rich young ruler. Yes! But have a care we are not in the came plight ourselves. The natural man is so ready to exclaim. Anything but that, Lord." Rest assured the Searcher of Hearts will never lay His hand on anything short of the idol, and nothing but the new lirth will enable us to surrender it.
